ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the name of Allah, the Most Gracious and the Most Merciful.

All praise and deepest gratitude belong to Allah SWT, the Almighty, whose infinite blessings, guidance, and strength have sustained the author through every moment of this journey. It is only by His grace and decree that this research could be conceptualized, pursued, and brought to a successful completion. This scientific publication stands as a testament to His divine mercy, which has granted the author fortitude during the long nights of revision, clarity in times of doubt, and a resilient heart to embrace every challenge. This thesis presented to partial fulfilment of the requirements to obtain a bachelor's degree in the Department of English Education, University of Muhammadiyah Ponorogo.

The writer would like to express her sincere gratitude to:

1. Dr. Sutrisno, S.Pd., M.Pd., as the Dean of the Faculty of Teacher Training and Education (FKIP) Universitas Muhammadiyah Ponorogo, for his support and for providing the opportunity to conduct this research.
2. Dr. Elok Putri Nimasari, M.Pd., as the First Advisor, for her invaluable guidance, rigorous academic insights, and dedication in steering the direction of this research from its inception to completion.
3. Dr. Ana Maghfiroh, S.Pd., M.Pd., B.I., as the Second Advisor, for her constructive criticisms, valuable corrections, and constant encouragement throughout the academic process.
4. Mr. Habibudeen Luebateh, as the Principal of Chareunsart Wittya School, and Mr. Saudee, as the Head of the Dormitory, for their warm welcome, incredible hospitality, and permission to gather valuable experiences during the international teaching internship.
5. My four resilient peers and brothers-in-arms during the internship journey to Thailand, for the shared struggles, brotherhood, and unforgettable memories that we built together across the borders.
6. My beloved parents and family, for their unconditional love, continuous prayers, and sacrifices that have been the ultimate driving force behind the completion of this study.

Finally, the writer hopes that this scientific publication will be beneficial for readers and future researchers.

DEDICATION

This manuscript represents more than just an academic requirement; it captures a journey forged in restless nights, a testament to unyielding fortitude, and a deep expression of thankful hearts.

I dedicate this journey to:

1. My dearest parents, who have poured out boundless affection, constant prayers, and monumental sacrifices for my future. Being their only child, their profound faith in my journey has been the ultimate anchor for every milestone I reach.
2. My distinguished mentors, Dr. Elok Putri Nimasari, M.Pd. and Dr. Ana Maghfiroh, S.Pd., M.Pd., B.I., for their scholarly wisdom, exceptional patience, and invaluable insights that illuminated the path toward completing this study.
3. My dearest friends and my closest companions, Cakra, Rijal, Azka, and Mayang, for always being my support system. Thank you for the shared laughter, the late-night discussions, and the unforgettable memories that kept me going through the highs and lows.
4. My brothers in the Muhammadiyah Youth Movement of Ponorogo for the true brotherhood and shared spirit, and the Branch Executive Board of Muhammadiyah Ponorogo as fatherly figures who have constantly supported me, standing by my side from the moment I left for Thailand until my safe return. Their guidance has provided a solid foundation and continuous encouragement throughout my journey.
5. Kratos, Atreus, Arthur Morgan, Jin Sakai, and Amicia de Rune, the fictional figures whose epic journeys, unbreakable bonds, and battles against all odds became a sanctuary of inspiration. Through their stories of absolute resilience, heavy sacrifices, honor, and enduring strength, they taught me to keep moving forward even when the world feels overwhelmingly challenging.
6. Finally, to myself, for showing great resilience, staying disciplined through the long sleepless nights of revisions, and remaining committed to my own physical and mental growth. Thank you for taking every grueling step, embracing every challenge, and never giving up on the vision of who I am becoming.
